Maths Week

Next week is Maths Week at Castlefields School. We have lots of exciting maths games and problems planned for your children.

On Friday 3rd February we will be supporting the NSPCC with a "Dress up for Digits" Day. We are inviting all children to get creative and think about maths. It could be that they wear a sports shirt or a cap with a number on, or they could even dress up as a dice or a calculator!

There is no actual charge for this event, but if you do wish to support the work of the NSPCC, then please follow our Just Giving link:
